

Anticipation

—A New Frontier in Science

Mihai Nadin

antÉ Institute for Research in Anticipatory Systems

 The University of Texas at Dallas

April 16, 2010

1:30 PM, BIBA Auditorium

Collaborative Research Centre 637, University of Bremen

Autonomous Cooperating Logistic Processes—A Paradigm Shift and Its Limitations

Anticipatory systems reflect the dynamics of the living.
Their adaptive capabilities correspond to the acknowledgment of possible futures.

The presentation will introduce a foundation of anticipation, present examples of applications,
and reflect upon anticipation aspects of intelligent-agents-based logistic systems.